

a year of student climate organizing by numbers

Student Engagement

12 student leaders trained in climate organizing

100+ students mobilized for climate action events

2,000+ petitions collected and delivered to public officials

Issue Organizing

Legacy Time Capsule

City of Boise Building Code Updates

Science Standards

Ready for 100 in Boise

Media Coverage

New York Times

Huffington Post

Think Progress

Idaho Statesman

Boise Weekly

Spokesman Review

Magic Valley News

Idaho Education News

Channel 6

Channel 7

Mic

Clean Technica

program partners and support

The Idaho Chapter Sierra Clubs a member-supported non-profit organization working to promote the conservation of Idaho's natural environment and climate by influencing public policy decisions through grassroots involvement. We're America's oldest, largest and most influential grassroots environmental organization.

The Idaho Climate Justice is a group of highly motivated students searching to find new ways to improve environmental conditions across the nation through lobbying for stronger environmental regulation, climate justice awareness, and educating about human impacts on the world around them

The Sierra Student Coalition is a network of high school and college-aged young people from across the country working for environmental, climate, and social justice with the mission "to train, empower, and organize youth to run effective campaigns that result in tangible environmental victories and that develop leaders for the environmental movement."

Ready for 100 is a movement of people working to inspire our leaders to embrace a vision of healthier communities powered by 100% clean energy. We are asking mayors, CEOs, pastors, principals, civic and community leaders, parents and students to commit to solutions that help us achieve 100% clean, renewable energy across the United States by the year 2050.